

Maj. Gen. (res.) Eliezer Marom

Former Commander of the Israeli Navy and former Director General of the Israel Civil Aviation Authority.

Maj. Gen. (Res.) Marom served in the Israeli Navy for four decades in a wide range of senior command and leadership positions, including Commander of the Missile Boat Flotilla, Commander of the Northern Naval Arena, Head of Naval Operations, Chief of Staff of the Israeli Navy, and Deputy Commander of the Navy. From 2007 to 2011, he served as Commander of the Israeli Navy. Following his retirement from active duty, he led several national projects, and from 2015 to 2019 served as Chair of the Israel Airports Authority. During the “Swords of Iron” War, he was appointed by the Government of Israel as the “Northern Project Coordinator”.

Marom currently works as a strategic consultant, lectures on national security and strategy including maritime security and serves as a security affairs commentator. He is a graduate of Israel’s National Security College, executive management programs at Harvard University and the U.S. Naval War College, and holds an M.A. in International Relations from the University of Haifa.